NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—Money was active but easy at 6 to 7 per cent. on call. The great casy at 6 to 7 per cent. on call. The great ball cliques were greatly disconcerted by the intelligence of the passacy extertal of a bill in the Pennsylvania Legislature providing that it shall be lawful for the Board of Directors of the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne, and Chicaeo Raliroad Company, by 16 or otherwise, to co classify the members thereof that only one-fourth, as near as may be, shall terminate their official terms as directors at the next annual election, and that after the board is thus classified the stock and bondholders shall only fill the wasness that created. This virtually retains the present board for the next atree years, and precludes the possibility of the road's passing into the central of the Eric party. This was generally regarded as a severe blow to the Eric clique, and heavy sales were made of all the stocks in which they are supposed to have a large interest. The New York Central clique found itself unable to support the market alone, and everything went down by the run. There was a feeble effort at a recovery, but it was not unatained, and the close was flat and unsettled. Northwestern was best supported. The lead immediate action to recover their lost grou and left town in the afternoon, it is suppos for Harrisburg. The action of the Penns vania Legislature is believed to for Harrisburg. The action of the Ponnsylvania Legislature is believed to be prompted by the Pennsylvania Central railroad in its efforts to attract through freight between Chicago ; and Philiadelphia. American Express stocks largely advanced. Governments opened buoyant. The Treasury clique was buying the large increase in the revenue, but the troubles in railways deprived the market of a portion of its support, and the carity advance was not sustained. the market of a portion of its support, and the early advance was not sustained. The same remark applies to a great extent to gold. It was cheaper to carry, but the premium declined, and speculative confi-dence throughout the wholestreet was greatly impaired as it is felt that the operations of the Eric clique will again become the ruling influ-ence in all speculations at the Stock Ex-change.

Mr. CATTELL introduced a bill to provide for the conversion of of the representative system of Connecticut, which Mr. Dixon had spoken of as a rotten borough system. Mr. MORTON briefly discussed the question of the best form of words in which to put the amendment. He objected to the form reported by the Judiciary Committee because it merely provided that no citizes should be deprived of the right to vote or hold office on account of race, color or previous condition of servitude; leaving it still in the power of the like better the form submitted by Mr. Howard as an amendment, providing that citizens of the United States, of African descent, shall have the same right to vote and hold office as other citizens; but this too was open to objection, because the States might establish an educational test, which, while it disqualified a few white men, would disqualify most of the Dhiacks. He preferred therefore an affirmative amendment declaring who shall have the right of suffrage, making it uniform and leaving nothing on the subject open to forced construction or to the construction of any State.

Mr. W. Ali NER read an argument in favor of The Steate thok up and passed the bill to provide for the expenses of the Palent Office for January and February, 1869.

Mr. WILLIAMS offered the following amendment upon which he will speak to-morrow:

Commission merchants should be enti-tled to charge two and a half per cent-commission for advances on produce and merchandise, live stock, &c., consigned or intrusted to their care and also for indoming, intrusted to their care, and also for indorsing, negotiating, and raising the money on notes, bills of exchange, or other obligations for the owner or holder thereof. This would facilitate the trade of the State, and move the products of the country with double the rapidity they now move, and enable them to change hands five times where they do now once, &c.

Conventional interest is another clog to the interests of trade. The usury laws more the money to be inclosed in the restrict of trade. The usury laws more criticate will shall be blotted out of existence. They says can be considered with the presentage of progression. Proper latitude to the use of money and the employment of capital has been one of the largest inducences that have contributed to the growth and prosperity of these two cities. A competent merchant or trader can settle in St. Louis or Chicago with fair credit and good securities, and rely solely on the street for his money, and never look into an incorporated bank, and get the money to move his business operations from year to year cheaper and with more facility than he can to rely on the chartered banks. The policy is to dole out re-lief by driblets so as to perpetuate, if pos-sible, the strong influences which the power of relieving is supposed to give to the dom-inant party. We do not expect any gen-eral relief to come except with the over-throw of that party. But it will come with this auspicious event, and we hope that the persecuted and wronged will await, with whatever patience they may, the time of whatever patience they may, the time of their deliverance. The Tennessee Militia.

The Intest dispatches from Nashville say that recruiting for the Brownlow militia goes on provokingly slow in Tennessee, and that it is doubtful whether fire companies can be raised in the whole State. This must be very unexpected and very mortifying to Brownlow and to those who acted with him in pushing the militia bill through the Legislature. Their boastings were prodigious. They proclaimed that the wrath and indignation of the white and black Radicals of the State on account of Kuklux outrages and atrocities white and black Radicals of the reason white and black Radicals of the reason account of Kuklux outrages and atrocities were such, that, at the first unfuring of the banner of the millits, thousands and thousands would rush to its support, vietth such other for the honor of being with such other for the honor of being as proudly upon the gale as a Brownlow banner can. It flaps itself resoundingly banner can. It flaps itself resoundingly.

But it accomplishes no more. It sitracts neither whites nor blacks. It has as little inspiriting effect as a shirt floating on a clothes-line. What can the matter be? What is the explanation of the singular phenomenon? Where are the carpet-baggers? Where are the scalawage? What are the negroes about? Are they all afraid to arm against the horrid Kukluxes? Do they deliberately decide to remain unarmed and let themselves be butchered in cold blood? Or do they conclude that all the stories about Kuklux butcheries are nothing but Brownlow humbugs?

It is not enough that there should be cision as to the validity of Preside Johnson's Amnesty Proclamationwant also he extent to which the Procla-mation operates. Does it relieve the sub-jects of it from all political disabilities and from all liability to punishment for any participation they may have had, in the rebellion? Does it give them the efective right to hold office? Does it restore to them their confiscated property? Does it place them in all respects in the same po-sition which they would have occupied if they had continued loyal to the Federal these things, or does it merely relieve the subjects of it from liability to be tried and punished for treason? Let us know wha Amnesty is and what Amnesty isn't.

A committee of the Senate struck propriation of $450,000 for the enlargement of the Louisville and Portland cana ed to restore it. The Indiana State Temperance Alli ce met at Indianapolis on Tuesday and ased a series of resolutions classing feiters. Some of these Temperance Alli ces would better promote the cause of emperance if they were a good deal m temperate—temperate in regard to what goes out of the mouth, as well as in regard to what goes into it.

Mr. E. A. Pollard is "played out." He says that he made oath that he had done nothing to encourage the rebellion because he was told by an employe of Collector Smythe that he had as much right to take such an oath as Mr. Vallandigham or Ben Wood would have. Whatever he may have been told, he knew that the oath taken upon his lips, was perjury. He is not to be believed on oath.

The honest men of the South hav tried to get along peaceably and harmo-niously with the scalawags longer than patience could be expected to endure. It is very well to pour oil on the troubled waters, but what if the troubles of the wa-

> A correspondent of the Cinchmati Gazetto, writing from this plate, refers to the common school bill proposing an additional tax of fifteen cents on the one hundred dollars as not being passed in an acceptable form," for the reason that it applies to "white children only." I am not surprised that the Gazette and its correspondent take this view of the subject. They will I trust, pardon me for saying, however, that in their deliberations upon and passage of the measure referred to our legislators did not, at all consider what would be "acceptable" to negrophilists and fanatics. What they looked to was the educational interest of the children of the State—the white children. Thank heaven, few a our Kentacky legislators are Radicals, who desire to place negroes, whether grow-up or juvenile, upon a footing of equality with white people. Our Radical neighbors may as well understand once for all that the people of Kentucky, while just to the inferior negro race in all things, do not, and never will, admit their social and political equality, and their representatives would be faise to the macket with they belong, should they so far forget themselves, as to emact anything tending in that direction. Had the common school bill recently enacted by the Kentucky Legislature contemplated the sitting of colored children at the same houses and in the same achools with the children of their late masters, my word for it, the fifteen cent tax would be voted down in the fine old Commonwealth by a majority nearly, if not allogether, unanimous. But no such provision—"seceptable," to the Radical correspondent of the Gasacte, but most unseceptable to the people of Kentucky—was cugarded, and the people of Kentucky—was cugarded, and the people of Kentucky—was cugarded, and the people of the contents of the late of the United States, depends on the descendants of that provision—is compliable to the people of Kentucky—was cugarded, and the content of the state, and the people of Kentucky—was cugarded, and the content of the state, and the people of Kentucky—was cugarded, and the content of the state, and the people of Kentucky—was cugarded, and the content of t

Todd, in view of the probable presperity of the South, insisted that he ought in justice to the State to compily with the requisitions of the new law. Subsequent events have demonstrated that this voluntary and generous acquiescence if insisted upon would proverninous to the keeper; and I was pleased to see that a motion to reconsider the action of the House of yesterday was haid upon the table by a decisive vote.

A CHICKEN DISPUTE.

Bourbon and Harrison in the Arena— The Latter Victorious. The Latter Victorious.

[From the Paris Kentuckias, Rebrusty 34.]

There was a grand gathering of feathered fightists and their backers in the beautiful grove overlooking Lair Station last Friday. Bourbon checken fanciers met opponents from Harrison, and a great battle of the birds was the result. We seemed to read in the lowering clouds that Providence was withholding its shalle on account of the cruel sport, but presently the storm green bedied sport, but presently the storm green bedied sport, but presently the storm green bedied speared in the heavens. We thought of the innocent pienics held in this same spot; but miles further on we could see the high battle-ground above Cynthiana, where more brutal, men contended in bloody surfe; and human life was freely ascrificed to the demon of war, and all around hung columns of smoke, from the distilleries lifted their dark heads lested to the victims of John Barleycorn.

In the regular pitched battle Harrison won nine out of leaven rounds. This was mortifying, as well as unprofitable, but it was not the first battle plucky Bourbons had lost on the same ground. At last a splendid fowl was pitted by the Harrisonians with high hopes of the galant victories he could win, when lot and be fied from the ring with the speed of fear, amid the leven sad languare of one party and the executions of the other. This incident gave the Bourbons an opportunity to returning by the cars somewhat chagrined by the result, but game to the last.

Old Saws and Saw-Mills.

The saw is an instrument of very ancient origin. We find it mentioned in the book of Isaish at a period sotemporaneous with the building of Rome. It is represented on the obelisks of Kgypt, and was in use among the Egyptians a incusand years before the days of the saw to Dedalas, or his pupil Takes but it is certainly of a more ancient date. Saw-mills were erocted in Germany in the fourth century; in the island of Maddirs in 1430, at Bresian, in Austria, in 1430, and in 1830 the first one in Norway was built. These were followed by many others all ever Europe. The saw-mill, as a mechanism for criting timber; had not been in use very long it some constrise before the settlement of America. The early mode practiced by the American colorists of manufacturing boards and planks was considered to the control of the Old Saws and Saw-Mills.

RAILROAD MATTERS.

The Edgefield and Kentucky Railrond.

LEGISLATIVE DEBATES. Discussion in the House on a Bill Providing for the Payment of Jurors in Magistrates and Police Courts.

the Payment of Jurors in Magistrates and Police Courts.

Min Prince Courts.

Min Prince Mr. Speaker: This bill provides that in case the Illigan's agree to a jury of six or less, no fees shall be paid them; if not, they are to be paid fifty cents each. The gentleman's amendment will provide for the payment of six dollars where a fall jury is called and three dollars where a fall jury is called certainly this amendment ought not to pars, as it will incur too much cost. Every citizen of the Commonwealth whose interest or property is interfered with has a right to demand a trial by jury, and it is not proposed in this bill to encumber that right with c six and expenditure. The real purpose and intention of the bill is to provide smaller juries and prevent the necessity of taking twelve men from their business to sit upon juries. I trust that the House will vote down the amendment.

Min Lex-Min Speaker: I think the bill it down the amendment.

Nr. LEZ-Mr. Speaker: I think the bill itself and the amendment are both wrong, and ought to be voted down.

The bill now proposes to pay fifty cends to call person for each trial he is engaged in the bill now to be a supported by the bill now to be person to reach trial he is engaged in the bill now the same of individuals who have, perhaps, nothing to do at home that are always in attendance at these justices' couris. They will become like some persons around our court-houses whom we turn professional jurors. This bill does not provide that six persons shall constitute a legal jury to try cases; but the law now provides that such shall be.

A case arises between a rich man and a poor one; perhaps justice is on the sade of the poor man, who is willing that the case be tried by the house of the same tried by the house of the poor man but against right and justice. He is thus so burdened that he cannot get into the courts of justice, or, if he does, he is overesched by the wealthy and affinent; and this bill is the very thing that will give them the power to do so. If the gentleman will bring in a bilk that will make the jury a legal jury, I will prefer it entirely to the present oil. This be chosen by loth prefer 1. Idd not briend. in a bill that will make the jury a legal jury. I will prefer it entirely to the present bill. This does not legalize a jury of six, but they must be chosen by both parties. I did not intend to detain the House, but it strikes me that the bill ought to be voted down.

Mr. H. W. Bronz—I think my friend, the honorable member from theeity of Oovington, whelly mistakes my motive in offering my amendment, and I ask that it be read, that the House may fully understand it. [The amendment proposed to strike out fifty ceats and insert one dollar, and to insert the words "each day," instead of "each trial."] Mr. Speaker, I am entirely friendly to this bill, provided i can get this amendment or something near it. "AS TRUE AS GOSPEL." How Old Fowler Raised the Wind(Correspondence of the Courier-Vermal)

Entering GLASCOW, Kr., Jan. 37, 1860.
Entering the town a few days shone by the Green-burg road, I was astonished to see a familiar and very old building, a three-storybrick, including the basement, thoroughly renovated and appearing as though erected the day before. The building called to raind the memory of former days, when a shrewd old fellow named Fowler lived in it, and it made me recollect how, under the pressure of debts, this Fowler fell upon quite a novel way of "raising the wind." I do not think it has ever found its way into print, and, whether ithas or not, it will bear repetition.
Fowler was tormented by his creditors, and,
worst of all, by the sheriff. What can I do?
was a question that was ever perplexing his brain. Some one suggested that if the first syllable of his name were only appressive of his gentus, he might by "appressive of his How Old Fowler Raised the Wind. other reasons, viz re Grant and Congress About to "Lock Grant and Congress About to "Lock Hors."

(From the New York World, 2d.)

There have been constant signs, since the holiday recess, that mutual distrust and firfeeling are brawing between Genoral Grast and the Congressional leaders. The gathering storm has so thicknead the political sky that the Times finds it necessary to attempt to reassure the waning condidence of the party, in the article, half apologetic and half advisory, from which we copy the above extract. As things look now, a restoration of lost harmony seems unlikely. Notither side trusts the Other.
